

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a chemical mechanical polishing pad comprising a polishing pad having a window formed therein and wherein the window is formed from a reaction of an aliphatic polyisocyanate, a hydroxyl-containing material and a curing agent.